Hi folks, This is an invitation to the first meeting of The Nordeimer Society, to take place on Thursday February 6th, 2014 at 7:00pm at Paul Hahn & Co (1058 Yonge Street).. The blog asked David Wencer to write an article about the Nordheimer Piano & Music Co.. As on the blogs tour of the The Village by High Park project provided by Deltera's senior site superintendent Sean McCaffrey – seeing the artifacts of his families Nordheimer Piano factory greatly interests this author in learning more about the factory.. If you know of where one could find the manufacturing number to match to the year of production, it would add even more to the history of this lovely instrument. recital hall in downtown Toronto, located at 15 King Street East.. Sean McCaffrey is a direct descendant of Samuel Nordheimer the owner of the Nordheimer Piano factory pictured follows Sean's image with his kind permission for it to used here, and David's article.. The facilities enabled Nordheimer to produce pianos which had a very high reputation; advertising for the company mentions that "the Nordheimer Company's ideal and energy is concentrated on the forces necessary to accomplish – regardless of cost – the product of the highest class and best grade only.. In early 1904 Nordheimer opened a state-of-the-art, five-storey factory in what was then the town of Toronto Junction, near what is now the northeast corner of Indian Grove and Hook Avenue.. I value this old piano, not because it is old, but because it has a rich tone and it is a delight to play.. This new building was made of white brick, and featured 60,000 square feet of floorspace, a lumber yard, two large elevator shafts, and a fancy new sprinkler system.. Thank you for this article about Nordheimer's history I have been curious about what year my old Nordheimer piano was made.. Starting in 1858, Nordheimer was Canada's official seller of Steinway pianos, and the two remained associated with each into the 20 th Century. 0041d406d9 Spanish. by Download book in PRC, EPUB, FB2
